Chris,

Appreciate your quick response today and your candor. Any chance one of your staff would be able to speak at our event in your stead? I think it is critical that EPA have a presence at this event given all the important ethanol issues handled by the Agency.

I'm pretty booked Tuesday, July 15 but so far fairly free on Wednesday, July 16, will give you a call.

I sincerely apologize. The truth is, we have kept your kind invitation in limbo for this long, as we were being optimistic that the final 2014 standards would have been published by August 4th, and saw your event as a great opportunity to talk about our final decisions. Unfortunately, it is now certain that final decisions will not have been made by then, and I will need to be in Washington shepherding the final decision-making process and unable to attend.

By the way, just because rules are still at EPA does not mean we can't meet and talk to stakeholders. However, it does mean we are necessarily limited in what we can share. Feel free to give me a call while you are in town.

Dear Mr. Grundler:

On behalf of the American Coalition for Ethanol (ACE), I am inviting you to address our 27th annual Ethanol Conference, themed "Power by People," to be held at the Renaissance Depot Minneapolis Hotel in downtown Minneapolis, MN August 5-6, 2014.

This event draws hundreds of people from around the country; ethanol producers, farmers, investors, goods and service providers, retailers who are selling higher ethanol blends and many more.

It is important for our members to hear from EPA and discuss their questions and concerns with you. From RFS implementation and RIN QAP to Tier 3 and guidance on FFV usage factors, there are so many issues that EPA and ACE members are focused on, we think this is a good and valuable opportunity to meet. Our conference agenda includes time for your address on Tuesday, August 5, between 8:30 am and noon or on Wednesday, August 6, between 8:30 am and noon. If you can appear at our conference, then we will work with your office to accommodate a specific date and time that fits your schedule.

We hope your schedule allows you to join us on August 5th or 6th. Should you have questions or concerns, please have your staff contact Shannon Gustafson of ACE at 605-334-3381 ext. 16 or sgustafson@ethanol.org. Thank you for your time and consideration.

Chris,

Please see the below message I send to Paul.

You and your team suffer enough attacks from people who mean it. The last thing you need is to feel attacked by someone who has no intention to do so, and who aims to fight alongside you more than with you.

Thanks again for your candor and time yesterday. Understanding all that you said, I have started to explore different approaches that would better align Iogen with EPA. When appropriate, I will update you.

Paul,

Because I can fully appreciate your frustration upon hearing my earlier voicemail, I wanted to reiterate the message I left yesterday for you.

Please know that I hold you in the highest professional regard. You are one of the most dedicated, hard-working, and insightful people I know working on regulatory issues. Each time we have talked, my understanding of the issues at hand has improved. Also – as I shared with you after our discussion during the RVO hearing in Arlington – I strongly disagree with those that blame EPA staff for the challenges of implementing the RFS2. Congress handed you guys a poorly-thought-out program. You and your colleagues are clearly doing all that you can to implement it in a reasonable way.

To the extent my prior voicemail was offensive, please know that it was out of a moment of frustration. Nothing more. Like you, I am passionate about my work. My aim is not only getting a good outcome for my clients, but getting results that also work well for EPA, and are a clear benefit to the environment. In all the work my firm does, we strive to be collaborative and supportive of EPA's staff and programs. Hopefully our written comments, and representation of various clients are perceived that way with one, unfortunate, exception.

My intemperate response to a difficult situation does not reflect my true thoughts about you in any way. I sincerely hope that we can continue a collaborative and mutually beneficial professional relationship.

Acting Assistant Administrator
Office of Air and Radiation
U.S. Environmental Protection Agency
1200 Pennsylvania Avenue, N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20460

Dear Assistant Administrator McCabe:

Executives from Neste Oil, a Finnish oil company that produces advanced biofuels which are used in the United States, will be in Washington next week May 12-13, 2014 for their Board of Directors Meeting. These executives include Matti Lehmus, Executive Vice President; Kaisa Hietala, Vice President; Neville Fernandes, President of Neste Oil US; Henrik Erametsa, Head of US Federal Affairs; and Dayne Delahoussaye, Regulatory Affairs Manager. The group requests the opportunity to meet with you next Tuesday, May 13th to discuss their efforts to deliver compliant fuels under the Renewable Fuels Program.

Neste Oil produces renewable diesel fuel from wastes and residues in addition to vegetable oil. They produce enough fuel annually to run about one million cars for a year. Their renewable diesel plays an important role in fulfilling the RFS and California's Low Carbon Fuel Standard, last year they were the single largest supplier of renewable diesel to California and one of the largest generator of low carbon credits in the State. Neste Oil is also one of the founding members of the Advanced Biofuels Association.

Please contact my policy associate Stephen Bolotin at 202-469-5104 or stephen.bolotin@hklaw.com to arrange a meeting. Thank you for your attention to this request.

Sincerely,

Michael McAdams
President
Advanced Biofuels Association

Subject: API's stance on biofuels mandate marked by 'absurdity,' ethanol group says

4/22/14 6:34 PM EDT

The American Petroleum Institute's statements attacking the Renewable Fuels Standard are all over the map, Advanced Ethanol Council Executive Director Brooke Coleman says.

"The absurdity of the American Petroleum Institute's positioning on the Renewable Fuel Standard is starting to come to light," Coleman said in response to a statement API issued today after EPA decided to lower the 2013 cellulosic biofuel volume mandate.

API said the agency's move shows that the RFS isn't working, and that "it's time for Congress to stop the insanity" and repeal it.

Coleman said the oil industry group needs to make up its mind.

"One day API claims that the RFS is an inflexible standard that requires them to do things they cannot do," Coleman said. "When EPA waives the oil industry's obligations for 2013, with the administrative flexibility API says doesn't exist, API then says that flexibility is the problem and its existence is evidence that the RFS is unworkable."

"The RFS is not insane, as they claim, but it appears to be driving API insane," Coleman added.

Hey Chris,

Thanks for this. I would still like to come in there and check in with a few people but if it's not going to happen at this point I should probably tell my members today. As I said, I was reacting to radio silence, not necessarily not getting a meeting. I am trying to manage angst and they want to see where you are. If not a meeting maybe a 30 minute call sometime soon in which people can call in for an update?
